Life of Kanakadasa

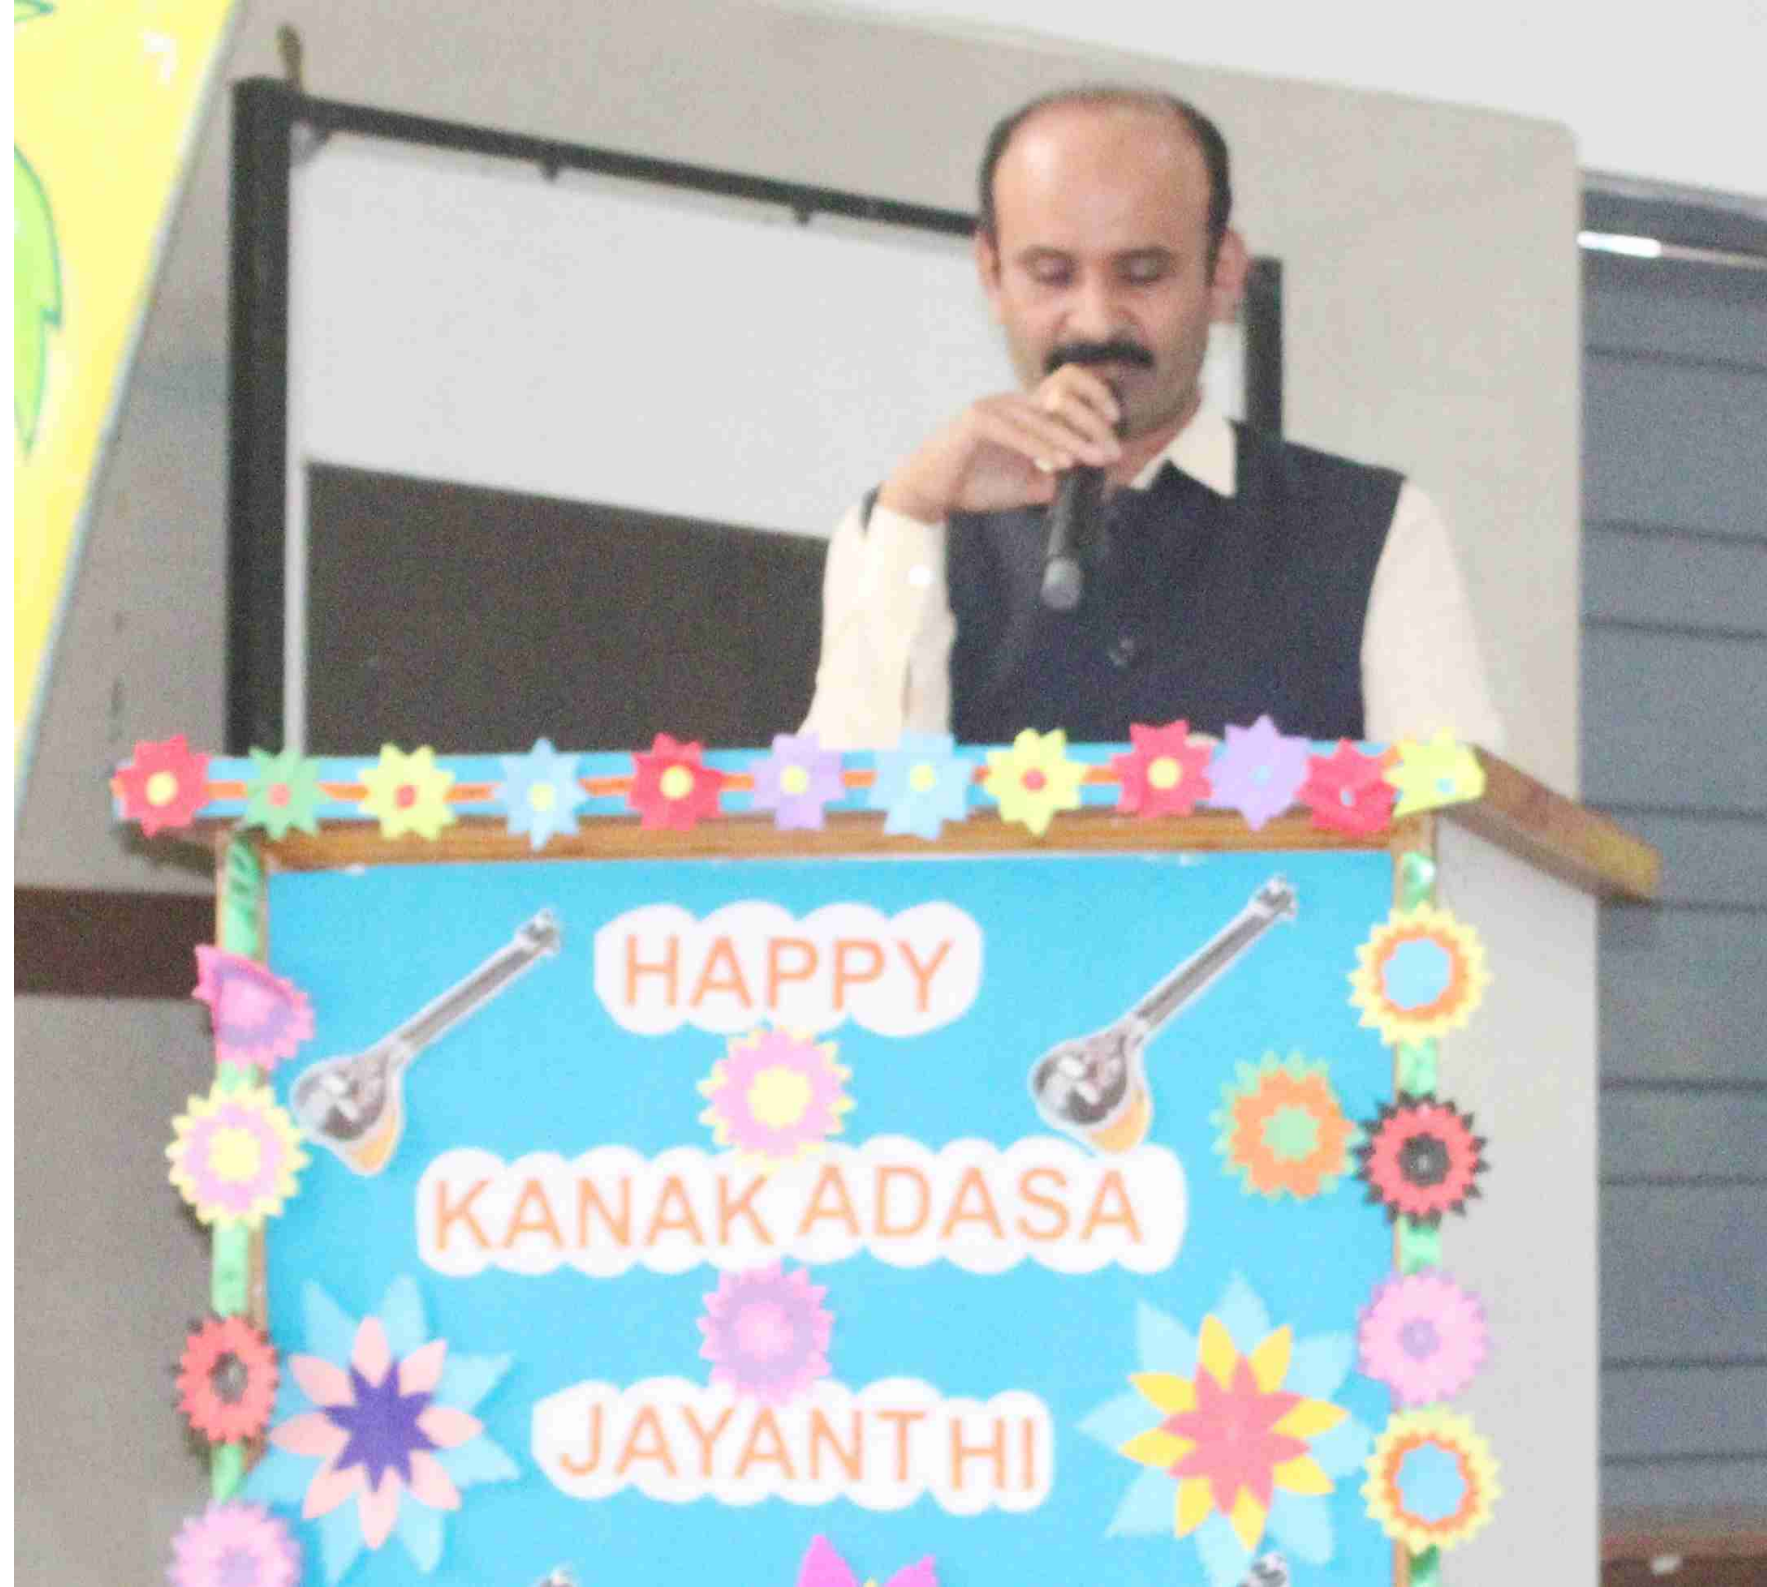

The life of Kanakadasa states that he was from the Kuruba Gowda community, born to Beerappa Nayaka and Bachamma in a powerful family. At his birth he was named Thimmappa Nayaka, by his parents and later assumed the name, Kanaka Dasa, given to him by his spiritual master, Vyasaraja.

The god he worshiped was Adikeshava of Kaginele, so all his compositions always end with a Mudra- Kaginele Adikeshava. He was all put into one, a composer, a musician, a poet, a social reformer, a philosopher and a saint. Kanakadasa was inspired by the Haridasa movement and became a follower of its founder, Vyasaraja.
